In August of 2016...

a young man came aboard at Chicago Electric Boat Company for a summer job.
He was doing orientations and cleaning boats, but that summer everything changed.

He saw couples propose on the boats.

He saw people in suits go out bored and come back with vigor.

He saw friends go out and have boisterous fun.

The young man was me. I learned that going out on a boat is a memorable experience and a place to foster meaningful relationships

How do you create new relationships or grow current ones?

There are many ways to build community, but we believe the best way is to simply embark on a journey,
enjoy food and drink,
experience connection on the Chicago River.
